WE WANT A SHERIFF.

There is an editorial from South Water that reminds one of other days in Decatur. That editorial was directed to the supporters of Mr. P. W. Delaney, and it was intended to win their allegiance away from the democratic party. Mr. Delaney went into a democratic convention not long since to get a nomination for sheriff. Another man secured the nomination, and the Rep now thinks that Mr. Delaney and his friends can be persuaded to bolt the ticket. We submit that this is placing a very low estimate on the material of which Mr. Delaney is made. We are sure that the man himself is in no way responsible for the Janus-faced and selfish sympathy that breaks up on the Irish people from South Water.

Had Mr. Delaney won in that convention, he would expect the support of Peter Peril's friends. From all that we have heard of Mr. Delaney through his friends we learn that he is a man who will give as much as he asks. You certainly hold the man up before the community in a false light when you intimate that he goes into a convention to rule or ruin. Such a man, one made up in such fashion, could not have such friends as Mr. Delaney numbers by the score.

And then the kind of appeal that was made to him puts a low estimate upon his intelligence, and also degrades American politics. We are told that Delaney was beaten by the bosses. It is certainly a piece of news to learn that the democratic party in Macon county has any bosses. The party has not been in the ascendancy here. It has had control of no offices, a thing that is necessary to the existence of a boss. You all know that the delegates to the democratic convention in this part of the state have done everything in their power to choose men who will make the best race. Of course it is possible for a delegate to make a mistake, but certainly those we have seen in democratic conventions here acted honestly. About that there can be no question.

And then we are told that a man was chosen, "whose political life like his church affiliation could not be discovered by a mind reader." The politics part of this criticism is something that concerns the democrats, and about which the organ of the republican party need not worry itself. If we are satisfied on the political score, that is all there is to it. A democratic convention passed upon this question, and we are not aware that a republican newspaper is a court of appeal from such a decision.

On the other point of the criticism; what has religion to do with it? We are engaged in the business of selecting a sheriff for Macon county. It will not be a part of his duty to lead us in prayer or to preach to us on Sundays. We don't know what are the religious convictions or affiliations of the candidate on the other side. He may be a high or low church member, orthodox or heterodox; he may be any or all of these, we shall not take the trouble to find out; for the very good reason that we are in search of a sheriff, not a preacher.

But why drag in so much about nationality and religion into as foreign a question as the one that presents itself in the candidacies of Peter Peril and D. A. Maffit? We want a sheriff; and to get one it is not necessary to reopen those dismal chambers in which lie buried the prejudices and passions of the past, thrown there by the people of a dozen warring nations as soon as they set foot and struck hands on humanity's common ground, the United States of America. It is hinted to Delaney's friends that Peril is not an Irishman. Is he an American citizen, and is he a friend, a sympathetic helper, to other citizens, be they or their forefathers Irish, German or English? How does he measure up as a man among the men he finds here? Are his sympathies broad and lasting; are his arrogance and selfishness nothing?

We have not been told that Mr. Maffit is an Irishman, the story has not been whispered even to Delaney's friends. But that is neither here nor there. The voters have another standard by which they will measure a candidate, yes the Irish voters just as well as all others.

AND now we hear a note to the effect that word has gone out from the democratic bosses that "Judge Nelson and Peter Peril must be elected at all hazards." This is kindly interpreted for us as follows: "Which means that it is a ticket made for trading purposes, and some of the candidates on that ticket might as well begin to lay in fuel for a cold day."

It seems that the above stuff is pretty cheap politics for a newspaper to engage in. You always have some of it in every campaign, but it is usually floated on the winds by a street corner orator. The men who take a little time to think, and who expect their speech to be considered seriously, do not make such charges against the ticket on the other side.

When you talk about trading do you always keep in mind that it takes two to make a bargain? If the friends of Judge Nelson and Peter Peril trade off the remainder of the democratic ticket, with whom must they trade? It would be out of the question to think of trading with the friends of D. A. Maffit and Harnsberger. So then our traders will have to go to the friends of George P. Hardy or some other republican candidate. Now we are told that a part of our ticket will be traded away in scandalous fashion, so much so that it will be a very cold day for some of our candidates. Before this can come about, Mr. Hardy and his friends must be parties to the bargain. If our folks trade, why of course it must be for something traded away on the other side. And it necessarily follows that if we do some scandalous trading for Judge Nelson and Peril, then Mr. Hardy and his friends will have to reciprocate with some scandalous trading in behalf of the candidate for county clerk on the republican ticket.

Now, is this the opinion that The Rep entertains of Mr. Hardy? Seriously, we believe The Rep has a better opinion of the gentleman. But the paper had to say something about the democratic ticket. Legitimate and sensible criticism is something that is very hard to find when you look over that ticket. But something must be said to keep up an appearance of earning 10 cents a week, and so The Rep rattles away about that which it knows nothing. It fires away at a couple of democratic candidates, and innocently and unconsciously wounds a couple of republicans with the same stone. We think an apology is owed to Mr. Hardy.

It is insisted in headlines that Senator Plumb voted for the tariff that now has its clutches on the people's pocketbooks. If a half-dozen more republicans had voted the way Plumb did, the bill would have died just before its birth was completed. But there is no great wonder that a republican paper should say Plumb voted for the bill. Those same papers have fondly told, time and time again, that if the people voted for the bill in 1898, when in fact there was more than 100,000 majority against it. In weak imitation of Reed, republican editors "saw" Mr. Plumb's vote.

It is a workman against a banker for the State Senate. And it is further a man who represents the workman's aims and hopes against a man who represents the capitalist's idea of what the world should be. So long as men remain true to themselves will there be any need to ask how workmen intend to vote in such a contest?
The manufacturers who were favored by the McKinley bill have already begun to charge higher prices for their goods. Democratic papers have carefully and fully set out this fact from day to day. Will the republican papers please come back by pointing out that wages have risen? They will if they can—but they won't.

The Rep says: "There is no bulldozing in the North. Here every democrat votes and has his vote counted." Then somebody must have done an immense amount of lying about the Duke of Pullman. And it was done by the laboring men who were in his employ.

MAHANNAH has not been heard to complain at the action of the County Board in reducing salaries. He does not expect to draw one; and if he should, he knows an old trick that is worth two of the Board's.

THE man who thinks that there is no work for a Moses in Macon county, would have been willing to justify that the condition of affairs in Egypt under "Old Pharaoh" was the millennium in its heyday.

Among the new electrical apparatus for vessels has recently appeared the holophoto, which is a powerful are light mounted on a movable projector so as to send a beam of light to port or starboard to indicate to other vessels the way her helm is put. If, for example, the helm is to port, the ray sweeps to starboard and is there occulted. The apparatus is worked through the power of the electric current, being automatically thrown in and out by movements of the helm.

Killed and Ate Her New Husband.
An extraordinary story of cannibalism comes from Zanzibar. A love match had been made between a couple of young Swahilis, and on the day following that of the marriage the bridegroom's friends called to offer the customary congratulations. They experienced some difficulty in getting into the hut and at last forced an entrance, when they found that the bride of a day had killed her beloved lord, had already had one feast off his body and was preparing the remainder for future use.—London Hawk.

MUSICIANS
Musicians are particularly liable to throat troubles. In fact, it is the one enemy whose painful presence they most fear. A slight cold soon attacks the bronchial tubes, the air passages to the lungs become inflamed, and then the unfortunate is either obliged to desist or if he attempts to sing or play, he does so at the risk of damaging himself irreparably in the future. To all such Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure is invaluable. It contains no opiate, so that it does not deaden the organs, and there is no fear from an overdose. People suffering from a painful cold have taken a whole bottle full in a few minutes, not only with no deleterious effect but with absolutely beneficial results. Mr. Lem H. Wiley, the popular manager of the Grand Opera House and of Sylvan Park in Peoria, is as well qualified to judge of the merits of a medicine for the lungs and throat as any one. He says, "Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure is the best thing I ever tried. It will cure a cold or any difficulty with the lungs quicker than any other remedy I ever saw, and it leaves the person in better condition. I would not be without it." This testimony of Mr. Wiley's is supported by thousands of singers, actors, players and musicians everywhere who have had an opportunity to try it. It relieves temporary hoarseness at once, clears the throat and enables the singer to perform his part without trouble.

one. W. A. Combs, who has been the proprietor of the European hotel on South Wa-

M. J. O'CONNOR IN TROUBLE.

Arrested and Placed in Jail on a Charge of Forgery.

Much surprise was occasioned yesterday by the arrest of Michael J. O'Connor on a charge of forgery. He is a young man who has many friends, and has always borne a good reputation for honesty and upright dealing. He has been a letter carrier for some time and in the performance of his duties has given good satisfaction.

The complaint against him was made yesterday by J. W. Redmond, who had lent him $105 on a note supposed to have been endorsed by D. A. Maffit. That was the face value of the paper. It was to run three months, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent after maturity.

To a reporter yesterday Mr. Redmond, who has an office over Peddecord & Burrows' bank, thus described the discovery of the forgery:

"I lent the young man the money on the day the note was drawn, Oct. 4. I thought it was so good I only charged $8 for commission and interest. I didn't have any idea the note was not good, and didn't even ask Mr. Maffit about it. I went to see him to-day about a house I heard he was going to buy. After we finished talking about that he said, 'By the way, have you a note from Mike O'Connor, with my name on it?' I said yes, for $105. 'Well,' said Mr. Maffit, 'I suspected as much. I didn't sign any such note. He asked me a short time ago to go on his note, and I refused to do it.' Then I was much surprised. I was beaten out of a hundred dollars only a short time ago, and I made up my mind that this man shouldn't get away. Mr. Maffit told me to go to the bank and see that his signature was not like that on the note. I told him I was satisfied to take his word.
He insisted, though, and we went to the bank. They pronounced the note a forgery at once. We didn't talk any more about it, but went right up to Mike's office and got out the warrant. We didn't talk two minutes about the affair. Mr. Maffit didn't say anything about the matter except that it was a forgery, and so I went to have the young arrested. I saw no prospect of getting my money anyway, and thought I might as well get the forger."

Constable Dillehunt served the warrant on O'Connor, taking him at once before Justice Curtis. There, with bowed head, and a dejected manner, he said there was no examination necessary, and would go to jail. His bail was fixed at $500, but no effort was made to furnish it. He didn't want any more, he said afterward, and didn't want to see any one.

There is but one theory advanced as to why Mike forged the signature. It is not known to be true at all. For some time he has been pressed for money. The report is that he has had trouble with a woman, and has been trying to settle that matter with money, but he was not able to get it fast enough.

Sympathy is expressed on all sides for the young man. That he has gotten into this trouble is a matter of general regret.
He has a mother.

At the Postoffice.

Before leaving the postoffice, Mike O'Connor resigned his position as letter carrier.
The vacancy will be supplied by D. O. Kincaid, carrier No. 9, while Kincaid's route will be delivered by Sub-Carrier L. J. Collins. There will be no interruption or delay in the regular and prompt delivery of the mails.

THE HANGING POSTPONED.

Gov. Pifer Grants a Reprieve Till March 6, 1901.

As presumed in "This Review" yesterday morning, there will be no hanging at Monticello on Friday of this week. The new evidence, reviewed in yesterday's paper, was conclusive proof to Gov. Pifer that more time should be given Calvin Holden and Albert Quinham to have their case investigated more fully, and therefore he granted a reprieve till March 6, 1901. The opinion is freely expressed now that they will never be hung. The chances for their acquittal are much brighter than they have been at any time yet.

The governor had a telegram sent yesterday to Sheriff Miller, of Monticello, informing him of the reprieve. Thereupon all preparations for the execution were dropped.
The sheriff had already borrowed two seat-folds, one from Clinton and one from Texas, and procured the rope. He is not sorry that his arrangements were made unnecessary.

At the February term of the Platt county circuit court, Dunham and Holden will have a rehearing.

Some Excursionists.

Fletcher and wife, Asbury Childers and wife, Mrs. W. N. Zimmerman, Frank Zimmerman, Harry Evans, J. E. Saxton and

The Baroque.

The Henry Baroque company, which played at the Grand Opera House last night, had some good people in it. The audience was not large. The baroque part of the business was not especially bright or funny, but the effect was good on the whole, with two or three laughable ideas. Eldora, announced as "The American Trewey," was the best specialist in the company. His juggling and trick work was better than that of Trewey himself, and it was all new. Some of his feats were wonderful.

TRACK AND TRAIN.

E. M. Merriweather went to St. Louis yesterday afternoon.

I. R. Gile, the Wabash fireman who was injured some time ago, was here yesterday morning and went back to the hospital. He looks worse for wear, but is getting better.

The Extremes.

"I can't read either of these letters."
"Who are they from?"
"One is from a schoolboy just learning to write, and the other is from a professor of penmanship; in the latter I can't tell which is the flourish and which the letter."

A Very Efficient Alarm.

Smiley—I heard you have bought a new patent burglar alarm, Smiley. I wish you let me have a look at it.
Tangle—I wish I could, Smiley, but——well, the fact is, a thief got into the house last night and stole it.—Chicago

STRAY SCRAPS.

The Wabash sold 149 tickets to Chicago yesterday, at the excursion rate.

The rank of Knight was conferred on Nell W. Dew last night in Chevalier Bayard lodge.

The Mills Planting mill is getting out the lumber for a new $10,000 Methodist church at Tuscola.

This is the last week of circuit court.
Judge Vall has to hold court elsewhere next week and will close this term.

Will Hellman's new house is almost ready for the plasterers. It will have one of the handsomest stair cases in the city.

I. A. Buckingham will go to Blue Mound to-day to represent the village in a suit against persons charged with gambling.

Several of the Knights of Pythias are making arrangements to go to Bloomington, next week, to attend the meeting of the grand lodge.

The Baptist Christian Endeavor society will give a reception to Rev. C. E. Torrey and wife on Friday night at the residence of James Freeman.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians and Catholic Knights of America will each put a handsome stained glass memorial window in St. Patrick's church.

The Uniform Rank, R. of P., have had several interesting drill meetings lately.
They are getting in shape to capture prizes at the next brigade contest.

The Hight-Woodcock case will not come up at this term of court. It will be referred to the master in chancery, however, and the evidence will be heard during vacation.

An old-fashioned supper will be served at the Woman's exchange for the benefit of the Industrial and Charitable union on Friday evening, Oct. 24. Supper from 5 o'clock till 10.

The case against Charles Johns for rape will probably come up in the circuit court late this afternoon or to-morrow morning. Lee & Gray are the attorneys for the defense of Johns.

Miss Jennie Locke, the Japanese girl, was at the First Methodist missionary meeting yesterday afternoon at the residence of Cyrus Imboden. She made an interesting address to the ladies.

Carpenters are still at work on the interior of the new Union elevator, but business has commenced there and some grain has already been handled. The prospects are good for big business.

In the county court yesterday judgment was rendered for Eli F. Dawson in his suit versus John W. Davis et al. The defend-ents paid the amount of the judgment was $352.35 and costs.

Fish Warden Harkness is getting ready to bring forth another batch of charges against people who have violated the fish law. This time the victims will come from the northeast part of the county.

The people on Prairie avenue have put bridges in the sidewalks where they crossed the sewer. The ridge has thus been removed and there is no danger of getting mired in crossing in rainy weather.

A surprise was given G. W. Thompson at his home in Long Creek township on Sunday, Oct. 12. It was in honor of his 55th birthday. A big dinner was served at 12 o'clock. About 30 guests were present.

C. N. Brown, now with Emma Abbott's Opera company, writes to Decatur friends that he likes the work and is doing well.
The company will pass through Decatur next Sunday going from Chicago to St.
Louis.

The prohibitionists had another meeting at Blue Mound last night. W. E. Mann was in charge of the singing. R. P. Fulmer and G. E. Helder were the speakers.
Meetings will be held Friday and Saturday at Forsyth.

Charley Morgan left his home at 529 West Cerro Gordo street Monday morning and has not been heard of since. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morgan, are grieved very much about him. It is thought he went off with a show.

People on Broadway complain about the condition of the street. Several holes have been made by the sinking of the earth in the sewer excavation. It can hardly be expected that that street should be in first class shape, but it might be improved enough to make it passable.

Mrs. Francis L. Strohm has sold her residence at 543 Prairie avenue, to Mrs. Nancy Howenstine for $4,000. Mrs. Howenstine will occupy the residence. Mrs. Strohm has sold most of her furniture and next week will leave for the west to make her home with a son.

The first session of the Decatur Trotting association was successful financially. The weather during the fall meeting was all against the association, but in spite of that the receipts on the season were ahead of the expenditures. Though no big dividends will be declared, the association will be on hand next year with better fares.

Falconer.

Frank A. Falconer was sentenced by Judge Collins in the criminal court at Chicago yesterday, to 75 days in jail for obtaining wool bags under false pretenses, from various Chicago dealers. Frank is well known in Decatur, as is also the account of his difficulties in Chicago. As there were several cases against him, it would seem that he got off well.

fever. She was aged 64 years and was the wife of James Jordan. The funeral will

m. to-morrow, conducted by Rev. C. G.

Meeting at Macon.

Hon. J. H. Howell and his son Chester were at the Dealing yesterday for dinner with Capt. Mahannah, D. A. Maffit and Harry Midkiff; they went to Macon on the 5 o'clock train and had a republican meeting. Mr. Howell was the speaker.

A Wedding Yesterday.

Joseph Dickson and Miss Emma Stackhouse, both of Lake City, were married yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Justice Curtis in his parlor at Hotel Brunswick.
They had numerous friends with them who gave them most hearty congratulations.

TRANSFERRING GRAIN.

The New Union Elevator Started Up Yesterday.

The new Union elevator that has for the last two months been climbing skyward, near the Wabash freight depot, was formally opened for business yesterday afternoon. The machinery was started for the first time, and the first of that great stream of grain which will pour through its many spouts, was run up into the elevator and back down into other cars, which are to carry it down east. Four cars were transferred yesterday and then the machinery was stopped that belts might be tightened and an examination might be made for loose screws or anything else that was not just right. The elevator will be running again this afternoon.

In operating the elevator the services of 8 to 10 men will be required, besides the manager, Charles N. Twaddell. Charley Armstrong is the engineer. The storage capacity of the establishment is 75,000 bushels. This is in addition to the ability to transfer grain at the rate of 100 cars a day. For some time great trouble has been experienced in getting grain transferred from one car to another. The roads which bring in from the west do not like to use the cars go east. Heretofore it has been almost impossible to get the transferring done fast enough. That difficulty, it is expected, will not be encountered for awhile at least. About 200 cars are already waiting in this vicinity to be transferred.

A SUCCESSFUL BALL.

The A. O. B. Keep Up the Record in All Particulars.

It would hardly do to say the ball of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, at the Guards' armory last night, was the best one ever given there, because the members gave one last year that was about as successful and delightful as a ball could be. Then, it can only be said that the ball last night was one of the kind that the order gives, and that will speak most highly of it. There may be balls where more pleasure to the square inch is to be had, but that is doubtful, and no one can say so from actual eye witness of anything better.

About 150 couples were on the floor when the opera house orchestra began about 9:30 to play the grand march. It was led by James Veale, floor manager, and his daughter, Miss Mollie. All during the evening the fitness of Mr. Veale's selection was made evident by the graceful and efficient way in which he looked after the floor and kept the dances moving smoothly and pleasantly. His appearance was as agreeable as his actions, because he was attired in the finest of dress suits, with knee trousers.
Mr. Veale's faithful aid, with George Russell, P. W. Donahoe, P. A. Moran, William O'Hearn, John Redington, John Leavins and J. J. Moran.

The reception committee was P. W. Dalaney, M. Moran, James Collins, and William Mohan. They were most attentive to their duties and did a great deal towards making the large company enjoy itself.
The committee on arrangements included John Giblin, James Veale, James Collins, M. Moran, P. W. Delaney and Tom Clark.
The success and smoothness of the ball would of course have been impossible, if the arrangements had been defective. That they were carefully made was shown by the satisfactory outcome of the affair. There were almost as many people there as the hall would hold, and everybody had as good a time as they could have had. It would seem, therefore, that nothing in the way of preparation was left undone.

An intermission was made about 12.
Supper was taken at two or three different restaurants, which remained open to accommodate the large number.

A New Demand.

With a list of 400 or 500 customers, such as Manager Hatch, of the telephone exchange, has, it is not surprising that he should have a great many requests for a great many different things, some of them very strange, in the course of the year. He had a call yesterday for something that has not been asked for before, however. It was a left handed telephone. Charles N.
Twaddell, manager of the new Union elevator, wanted it. He does most of his work with his left hand, and has found difficulty in using telephones, as ordinarily faced. If you never tried it just see how it goes to hold the telephone in your right hand, while you write with your left.

Killed a Bear.

Several sections of a bear arrived in Decatur yesterday by express. They were a part of the bear slain by Dr. Cass Chenoweeth, who is with the Michigan hunting party, and came to different friends of members of the party. The cuts were steaks and roasts. Some of them were served yesterday at dinner, and the receivers who had not yet heard what kind of meat it was, pronounced it as the finest of venison. It was very excellent bear meat, however, all agreed to that.

A letter received from the party tells a very good story on Dr. Chenoweth, in connection with killing the bear. It is a little too long to tell here.

Want Fish.

J. G. Strohm, living near Monticello, has written a letter to Fish Warden Harkness, asking for fish to stock a pond he has just built. The request will be referred to the commissiонер at Quincy. The practice of raising fish in private ponds is becoming quite common. It is a paying investment, and one that affords considerable satisfaction besides the monetary returns.

Cancer of the Nose.

In 1875 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. At my father's death, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physician. His treatment did no good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had considered that I was dying from its effects. I was promised to take a. S. S., and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.

TRY : IT : ON : A : DOG.

What is the difference (From a Clothing point of view) Between a man and a dog?

A dog makes pants that he don't wear.

A man wears pants that he don't make.

FUNNY THING

About the dog is, that he has no use for pants in winter. His pants are all Summer pants. And talking about
